KAISER ABDICATES AND FLEES TO HOLLAND

Armistice terms were signed by Germany and the announcement was officially made by the State Department at 2:45 o'clock Monday morning. Fighting ceased at 5 o'clock a. m. of that morning.

The above announcement was received in this city about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning and the city went wild with joy. Bells were rung, guns discharged and every available noise-making device brought into play, making sleep impossible. The joyful celebration lasted throughout the day and well into the night, many of the stores remaining closed all day.

TERMS OF ARMISTICE

The terms of the armistice with Germany were read to Congress by President Wilson at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Assembled in the hall of the House, where nineteen months ago Senators and Representatives heard the President ask for a declaration of war, they heard him speak the words which herald the coming of peace.

The strictly military terms of the armistice are embraced in eleven specifications, which include the evacuation of all invaded territories, the withdrawal of German troops from the left bank of the Rhine and the surrender of all supplies of war.

The terms also provide for the abandonment by Germany of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk.

The naval terms provide for the surrender of 160 submarines, fifty destroyers, six battle cruisers, ten battleships, eight light cruisers and other miscellaneous ships.

All Allied vessels in German hands are to be surrendered and Germany is to notify neutrals that they are free to trade at once on the seas with the Allied countries.

Among the financial terms included are restitution for damages done by the German armies; restitution of cash taken from the National Bank of Belgium and return of gold taken from Russia and Rumania.

The military terms include the surrender of 5,000 guns, half field and half light artillery, 30,000 machine guns, 3,000 flame throwers and 2,000 airplanes.

The surrender of 5,000 locomotives, 50,000 wagons, 10,000 motor lorries, the railways of Alsace-Lorraine for use by the Allies, and stores of coal and iron are also included.

The immediate repatriation of all Allied and American prisoners without reciprocal action by the Allies also is included.

In connection with the evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine it is provided that the Allies shall hold the crossings of the river at Coblenz, Cologne and Mayence, together with bridgeheads within a thirty-kilometer radius.

The right bank of the Rhine and that occupied by the Allies is to become neutral zone and the bank held by the Germans is to be evacuated in nineteen days. The armistice is for thirty days, but the President spoke of the war as "coming to an end."

German troops are to retire at once from any territory held by Russia, Rumania and Turkey before the war.

The Allied forces are to have access to the evacuated territory either through Dantzig or by the River Vistula.

At the conclusion, after reading the conditions of the armistice, the President said:

"The war thus comes to an end; for, having accepted these terms of armistice, it will be impossible for the German command to renew it."

"It is not now possible to assess the consequences of this great consummation. We know only that this tragical war, whose consuming flames swept from one nation to another until all the world was on fire, is at an end, and that was the privilege of our own people to enter it at its most critical juncture in such fashion and in such force as to contribute in a way of which we are all deeply proud, to the great result."

"We know, too, that the object of the war is attained, the object which all free men had set their hearts; and attained with a sweeping completeness which even now we do not realize."

KAISER ABDICATES

On Saturday, two hours after a stormy conference between the Kaiser, the Crown Prince, Gen. Von Hindenburg and Gen. Croner, the Kaiser cast the die in favor of abdication. The Crown Prince was the first to suggest flight, while his father continually refused to resign the throne until alarming reports began to arrive from Berlin. It is understood the former Kaiser has fled to Holland. William Hohenzollern nervously signed the letter of abdication and the Crown Prince affixed his signature to a like document. Others of the ruling family in Germany either have abdicated or will do so immediately.

Ebert, the new German Chancellor, in taking office has announced that the business of the new government is to bring about a speedy peace and to prevent civil war and famine. The issuing of this proclamation was the first official act of the Socialist leader.

Revolution is in progress throughout Germany. People's governments have been established in the greater part of Berlin and in other cities of the kingdom and empire. In Berlin there has been some fighting between the revolutionists and reactionaries in which several persons were killed or wounded. The palace of the Crown Prince has been taken over by the revolutionists. "Long live the republic" and the singing of the "Marseillaise" has been heard in the streets of Berlin.

Mr. B. F. Wyatt and family have received notice of the death of Mrs. Julia Roberts Rice which occurred recently at her home in Galveston, Texas.

Decedent was the wife of Mr. Corwin A. Rice and she and her husband resided in this city up until a few years ago. She had been in failing health for a year or more and had recently contracted Spanish Influenza and Meningitis which rapidly resulted in her death. Notice!

A telegram received by the Local Board from the War Department, since the signing of the armistice, announces that all calls for men for entrainment to the camps are cancelled; but the Local Board is directed to finish the classification and examination of registrants of September 12, 1918.

CELEBRATES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. David G. Howell, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday. Their four sons, David, Robert, Oliver and William, with their families and Mrs. Howell's father, Mr. Robert Gay, aged 91 years, were their guests for the day.

The gathering was indeed a happy one and Mr. and Mrs. Howell were recipients of several handsome presents. God in his love and mercy has spared these good people to their loved ones and that He may spare them for many more years to be a pleasure and blessing to their family and the community is the sincere wish of a host of friends.

ALL DRAFT CALLS ARE CANCELLED BY WILSON ORDER

By order of President Wilson, Provost Marshal General Crowder Monday directed the cancellation of all outstanding draft calls, stopping the movement during the next five days of 252,000 and setting aside all November calls for over 300,000 men.

Secretary Baker later announcing that so far as practicable all men who have been called and who have not completed their training will be immediately turned back to civilian life.

"To the extent that we can, we will turn back these men who have been entrained and who have not reached training camps."

Mr. Baker made this statement after a conference which included the heads of practically every important bureau of the War Department. He said more comprehensive announcements concerning the situation would be made later.

"All that can be said now," he said, "is that further calls and inductions under the draft have been suspended and that so far as we can, those men who have been called but who have not completely passed thru the camps will be turned back to civilian life."

NO CIRCUIT COURT

As will be seen from the following letter there will be no Circuit Court held in this city for the present term and all cases will be carried over to the next term. The letter from Judge Young to Dr. J. A. Shirley, local health officer, follows:

"November 8, 1918.

"Dr. J. A. Shirley,
Mt. Sterling, Ky.

"My Dear Doctor:

"In obedience to the order of your Board and your direction, there will be no Court held in Mt. Sterling at all. I feel that we should not jeopardize the life of any individual."

"I wish you would give this as wide publicity as you can. Tell the Clerk that you have ordered this and that the Court agrees to it. Publish it in your paper and see that the jurors are not put to the unnecessary trouble of coming to Court, and believe me,

"Your very truly,
WM. A. YOUNG."

BIG DRIVE ON THIS WEEK

Montgomery County Has Not Failed Our Boys at the Front—She Must Not Now

The big drive of the United War Work Campaign is on this week and the various committees in this city and county are busy at work. Chairman Marcus A. Prewitt is busy as he can be and feels confident of the success of the campaign. This country's quota is approximately $14,000 and it is confidently believed that Montgomery will go way "over the top" as she has done in every other campaign for war funds. A house to house canvass will be made and it is hoped the soliciting committees will be heartily received and co-operated with.

The coming of peace brings great responsibilities. The pages of history are filled with bitter examples which prove that the reconstruction period following bloody warfare may be even more dangerous to the life of a nation than the period of actual strife.

Dr. John R. Mott of New York, director general of the campaign says, "The period of demobilization must not be a period of demoralization."

American troops cannot be brought home under two years. This is the statement of army and navy officials. During that time our boys over there and over here must be furnished the right sort of diversion to counteract the temptations which go with the dull monotony of army and navy life in peace times.

Montgomery county has never failed her sons at the front—she will not—she MUST NOT NOW.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES

Relatives here received a message Sunday announcing the sudden death Saturday night of Mr. Thomas D. Jones, at Washington, D. C., from pneumonia. Mr. Jones lived in this city for many years and was City Clerk for several years but left this city to make his home in the South, however for a short time past he has been holding a responsible position with the government at Washington.

A man of pleasing address and manner he was well liked by a host of friends and the news of his sudden death was quite a shock to both relatives and friends. He is survived by three sons, Raymond D., Kelly and Nelson and one daughter, Miss Mary Bruce Jones, all of whom have the sympathy of everyone.

The body was brought to this city Monday and the burial took place in Machpelah cemetery this afternoon.

REPUBLICANS WILL CONTROL BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS

A Republican majority in the next Congress of at least two in the Senate and of not less than forty-five in the House, was assured from returns from the scattering doubtful districts of last Tuesday's election.

Word from Detroit of the election in Michigan, upon almost unofficial returns, of Truman H. Newberry, Republican candidate for the Senate, present control ends, this committee over Henry Ford, Democrat, increases the Republican Senate roll to ten war problems.

forty-nine, a bare majority. The Democrats have forty-six, with the Idaho contest between Senator Nugent, Democrat, and former Governor Gooding still in doubt. On the face of almost complete unofficial returns Nugent has a majority of nearly 500, but Gooding has demanded an official count, which will be received November 15th.

Returns from the last missing House district—the Second Montana—where a Republican was elected to the seat now held by Representative Jeannette Rankin, a successful independent candidate for the Senate, were received.

Political Line-Up

On the face of now complete unofficial returns the political line-up of the next House is as follows:

Republicans, 239; Democrats, 193; Independent, one; Socialist, one.

Prospects for holding not less than forty-nine seats in the Senate, regardless of the outcome of the Idaho contest, places the Republicans in a position to take control of the Senate from the Democrats and reorganize it.

Republican control of both Senate and House and harmony of action between the Republicans of both bodies are expected to have much effect on legislative reorganization of the House, Republican reorganization principally affecting chairmanship and majority control of committees beside legislation. Seniority of service is the almost unbroken precedent in the Senate as in the House of electing committee chairmen.

With the Republicans holding intact their majority to organize the Senate, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, under the seniority rule will succeed Senator Hitecock, of Nebraska, as head of the foreign relations committee. Although the belief, it was said, is that the peace treaty will be ratified before the Republican candidate for the Senate, present control ends, this committee will have many important affairs before the election.

Penrose Heads Finance

Heading the powerful Senate finance committee, with its jurisdiction over bond and tax legislation, would be Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, in place of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming, is expected to head the appropriations committee, of which Senator Martin, of Virginia, now Democratic leader, member on the military and agricultural committees, but is expected to prefer the appropriations committee.

The military affairs committee, of which Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, is chairman, is expected to go to Senator Wadsworth, of New York, next in line after Senator Warren to secure the chairmanship.

Slated for Chairmanships

Besides these pre-eminent committee chairmanships, prospective chairmen of other important committees follow:

Banking and currency: Senators, McLean, Connecticut, vice Senator Owen, Oklahoma.

Privileges and elections: Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, vice Senator Pomerene, of Ohio.

Manufacturers: Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, vice Senator Reed, of Missouri.

Postoffices: Senator Townsend, of Michigan, vice Senator Bankhead, of Alabama.

Educational and labor: Senator Borah, of Idaho, vice Senator Smith, of Georgia.

Selection by the Republicans of a president pro tem to succeed Senator Saulsbury, of Delaware, who failed of re-election, is a matter of some speculation. Senator Lodge is scheduled to remain leader of the Republicans, with Senator Brandegee mentioned for the honorary presiding position.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, now majority leader, is expected to head the Democrats again in the new Congress, with Senator Gerry, of Rhode Island, mentioned for the place of Democratic "whip" now held by Senator Lewis, of Illinois, who was defeated.

FLU CLAIMS A MOTHER

The many friends of Mrs. Lewis Martin were greatly shocked to hear of her death Thursday after a short illness of influenza. Mrs. Martin has been a member of the Methodist Church for many years and was a woman of noted kindness and Christian devotion. Seven of the family are now very ill with the same disease.

MAKE GOOD YOUR PLEDGE

With peace becoming more and more a possibility from day to day and unsettled wage conditions likely to follow there is a disposition on the part of some folks to let down on their Liberty Loan pledges to Uncle Sam. In short not to pay for their bonds.

Every such person is starting a mighty poor reputation for himself. A reputation that he will have difficulty in living down.

Don't get into that class. Make good your pledge.

Like the boys at the front you started in to play fair with your country. Stand pat. Sit in until the game is finished. You cannot lose.

But you will go broke in reputation if you renege now.

Your country and the boys who have fought and are yet fighting for you mean just as much to you today as they did when you pledged yourself to pay for your Liberty Bond.

The need for the money it represents is not lessened one bit by the prospects of peace. War expenses will continue for months after the last peace treaty is signed.

And in the finality it will cost just about as much to bring the boys back home as it did to send them across the ocean.

Banking and currency: Senators, McLean, Connecticut, vice Senator Owen, Oklahoma.

Privileges and elections: Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, vice Senator Pomerene, of Ohio.

Manufacturers: Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, vice Senator Reed, of Missouri.

A prediction: There will be a change in the form of government in kaiserland and the subjects of Wilhelm will bring it about. They are licked to a frazzle and they know it. They have won the contempt of the world and they realize it. Absolutism in government is dead and the smell has reached the nostrils of Germans themselves.

IN MEMORIAM

CHARLES W. GILKEY

When a good citizen, an excellent neighbor and a public-spirited, patriotic man dies, his memory and worth should receive at least a passing tribute. In the person of Mr. Charles W. Gilkey, who laid down life's burden at the good old age of seventy-eight, the community of North Middletown, where most of his life was spent, lost a splendid and honorable citizen.

Although born in Montgomery county, his active, long and useful life was spent in North Middletown. In October, 1886, he was married to Miss Mary Arnold, a most worthy helpmate. She survives him in serene and kindly old age, a true "Mother in Israel," a most hospitable and generous friend and neighbor, "ambitious only of good deeds." Besides his wife and three sons survive Mr. Gilkey—Dr. J. A. Gilkey, the able and well-known physician of Paris; Robt. M. Gilkey, the capable and popular Sheriff of Bourbon county, and Ashton Gilkey, a prominent farmer of the North Middletown vicinity.

Mr. Gilkey and his devoted wife both lived to see these sons reared to manhood, and to assume honorable and respected places in society. In this there was much to give them joy, for their home in North Middletown was ever open with genial hospitality to their many friends and acquaintances. Mr. Gilkey took deep interest in the many public questions of the day, and was ever ready to champion and defend what he deemed was right. But he is gone. The community will miss his cheery companionship. And above all, to his devoted wife, who journeyed for more than half a century by his side, who was indeed, wife, companion, guide and helpmate, to her the bereavement is indeed, irreparable.

To her and to her sons the deepest sympathy of this entire neighborhood goes out, in this sad hour of their unspeakable sorrow. "One by one the lights go out, one by one our friends depart," yet He who is the Resurrection and the Life has promised that the darkest hours in this vale of tears are but the postals to an eternity of bliss, and that our friends "who have gone away" shall greet us again with "Happy Good Morning" in the realms of that "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

URGES PEOPLE TO HELP

Dear Mr. Crawford:

I am in receipt of your letter of several days ago, asking me to give some expression in regard to the United War Work Campaign, which will begin November 11, to raise the sum of $170,500,000, for the united work or the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., the Y. M. H. A., the Salvation Army, and etc.

It is needless to tell you that I am in hearty sympathy with this movement, and sincerely hope that the full amount will be subscribed, and that Kentucky will do its part in that great work. The service rendered by these excellent organizations has been of incalculable and lasting benefit to our soldiers and sailors in this war, and I know of no cause which deserves the liberal and generous consideration of our people more than does this one. Those who subscribed in the Liberty Loan campaigns deserve in many instances much credit, but in that work they were making a safe investment by buying the bonds of this Government.

The coming campaign of the United War Work organizations is, however, a higher test of the patriotism and generosity of our people, for in that they are giving to the worthiest of causes without hope of any monetary return. Nevertheless the good which is done by these splendid organizations is one of such a beneficial and lasting character that our country will receive immense practical returns as well as moral returns upon the investment.

Permit me, therefore, through you to express my cordial good wishes for the success of the campaign and especially that the people of Kentucky who have responded so generously and so nobly in every call Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Phillipot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ... I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go ... I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle ... I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health.

I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. ■ 78

WHEN GENERAL PERSHING DID HIS SUMS

A few years ago Gen. John Pershing made an unannounced visit to his birthplace at Laclede, Missouri. After a hand-shaking tour around the town square, among his boyhood friends, he hurried up the main street to a tiny white cottage where an old man was hoeing strawberries in the garden. At the sound of the opening gate the gardener looked up, then flung away his hoe, and with a joyous shout threw his arms around the stalwart soldier.

The old man was the General's early school teacher—and young John was his favorite pupil. Being Mr. Van Valkenburg's favorite pupil, however, did not carry with it exemption from work, for the schoolmaster based his partiality entirely upon a scholar's ability, particularly his ability to do sums—and nothing in Ray's arithmetic could stump young John.

The curriculum of the village school was limited to the three R's, but when his favorite scholar had finished up the arithmetic, Mr. Van, as the neighbors called him, added algebra, geometry and trigonometry—to the great detriment of the McGuffey's. He even sent off to professors in Eastern universities for tough problems; and teacher and pupil spent long, absorbed evenings together "working" them out. Small wonder the schoolmaster had sent patient the next day with boys and girls who stumbled over their multiplication tables. Indeed, middle-aged citizens of Laclede smilingly recall that there was considerable parental complainings in those days that while Mr. Van taught the Pershing boy he had time only to discipline the rest of the school.

No doubt this was true, for Mr. Van proudly admitted it, and was proud of pointing out in after years that history had justified his method. And so it has, for it was this extra teaching and drilling in mathematics which has enabled the future General to outdistance all competitors in the examination which won him an appointment to West Point.

The horny-fisted old pedagogue was already asleep in the Laclede Cemetery when the big guns shattered the world's peace. But perhaps no schoolmaster—save the one in the White House—has contributed more to America's share in the solution of this, the greatest problem the human race has had to solve.—The Popular.

Men like to brag that they know more about fishing than a woman. But we have often seen a girl land a 175-pound sucker even when her whole family were trying to help him get away.

WILL YOU HOLD YOUR HEAD UP PROUDLY WHEN THEY COME HOME?

(By Bruce Barton)

I lifted the receiver of the telephone, and almost dropped it again in surprise. For the voice was that of my good old friend, and I supposed him far away in France.

"What, back so soon?" I exclaimed. "Detailed for special duty?"

"Yes, back," he answered; and it struck me that his voice was slow and older, as though the weeks of his absence had been years. "Back—but not for special duty. There—there is another reason."

And then I knew that he must be wounded.

Wounded—while here at home, I still pursued my ordinary course. Wounded—to protect my home. Wounded—to keep my children safe.

It came over me all of a sudden, as it never had before, that I am debtor to him to an amount that I can never repay.

They will all be coming back before long. Some wounded; some grown strangely old. But most of them well and normal enough, thank God.

And we will stand along the sidewalks to see them pass. How shall we feel that day, I wonder.

Will their eyes say to us, "We were hungry for a bit of sweet, and you did not think to send it?"

"We were cold and you let the hot fires die: we were lonesome, and the movies stopped because there were no funds to carry on."

Will that be the messages of their eyes to us?

Or shall we stand confidently in their presence, greeting them as men who have nothing to repent.

—as men who in their absence gave freely of wealth and time, that there might be warmth and cheer and comfort over there!

They are coming back some day—perhaps before we think.

And what will be the message of their eyes to you?

A VIEW OF EASTERN KENTUCKY

Mr. Clay Cisco is just home from a week's visit to friends in Morgan and Breathitt counties. Speaking of the agricultural outlook of that section Mr. Cisco reports the condition above normal. Crops are good and have been eared for. Tobacco acreage was not large and is being held at 35 and 40 cents. Stock of all kinds are in unusual good condition and but for the prevalent epidemic of the Flu, the citizenship would be of high spirits and farmers and traders would be encouraged to greater efforts.

The Flu is awful, its effect dreadful and the results passing from the first stage to pneumonia is alarming.

Some families of five or more all are down at the same time, doctors over worked and to get nurses is a matter beyond possibilities. In West Liberty with a population of less than 500 there were 60 cases at one time and to the surrounding country undertakers are busy sending out caskets. As conditions are in Morgan county so they are in Magoffin, Breathitt and other counties. At almost every station caskets are being taken off or loaded on. Really it would seem the mountain country is a large orphanage, for where the heads of the family have this dreadful disease and it goes into pneumonia it is almost certain death with them.

MRS. BRENTS DONE GREAT GOOD BY VIN HEPATICA PRESCRIPTION

Well Known Louisville Woman Says Vin Hepatica Prescription Brought Her Back to Health Again After All Other Medicine Had Failed

Mrs. Mary Brents, 928 Burnett Ave., Louisville, Ky., who had been a chronic sufferer for about five years and in bed for almost a year and a half, and under constant care of physicians says:

"I gladly recommend Vin Hepatica for the great good it has done me in restoring my health when everything else had failed. Had been in bed for almost a year and a half with doctors attending me constantly, but I received no relief whatever.

"I read in the papers about Vin Hepatica and went and got a bottle. The very first dose seemed to help me."

"Just such testimony as this comes in from every quarter. Vin Hepatica is truly a wonderful remedy. Come in, get a bottle and try it on our recommendation.

REQUIREMENTS LOWERED FOR ENLISTMENT IN S. A. T. C.

The War Department has issued instructions defining its policy in regard to the change in educational requirements for admission to the collegiate section, Students Army Training Corps. An effort is being made to keep these units up to authorized strength. Due to the pressing need for officers in all branches of the service men are continually being transferred to Officers' Training Camps. A new system of reenlisting these sections is being worked out, and pending its completion, the War Department directs that institutions where present number of inducted men is less than its authorized quota, may certify for induction such students who do not have the prescribed number of units, but whom the head of the institution and the commanding officers of the unit, jointly, believe to be competent to pursue one of the programs prescribed. Due consideration will be given to such high school training as appeals have had, also vocational and business experience, to previous military training, and to such personal qualifications as are relevant to the making of an officer. The purpose of the foregoing arrangement is not to abolish educational standards, but to permit such relaxation as is necessary to bring the strength of the corps to its total authorization.

An applicant for admission to the Students Army Training Corps should apply by mail immediately to the educational institution of his choice for detailed information.

It makes a Corn Fed girl mad to have a thin man offer her his seat in a crowded street car. She couldn't possibly squeeze into the space he occupied, and he merely attracts attention to the thickness of her beam.

LETTER FROM "OVER THERE"

September, 1918.

My Dear Mother:

I will try and answer your letter now. I received it on the ninth of September and have not had a chance to write since then, the French and Germans can write but we can't. It seems like a month since I wrote to you and I expect it was. Well Mother, we had 4th of July the other night. It started about 10 o'clock and lasted for 90 hours and believe me, it was some fire works, they fired anywhere from one inch to fourteen inch shells, so you can imagine it was some noise.

I think you will read about what we did in the last ten days for it was one of the largest drives the Americans ever pulled off. We freed 150 square miles of French soil and I don't know just how many French men and women but it was a lot of them, and you should have seen the Germans we captured. I think every American that was in this drive got something that belonged to the Germans. I got a little pistol holster and a searchlight, also a piece of a six inch bullet that hit in about three inches of me.

Mother, I know you are worrying about me but please don't do that for I will come out safe for after they put a few sixteen-inch bullets in old Metz the war will be over and then we can come home. After I get there I am going to be a "hum," for I can sleep out in the woods and I can live on one box of hard tack a day and I can walk from one city to the other for I have walked all over France and part of Germany.

Mother, you talk about being dirty, you haven't seen any dirt yet. I have not washed for ten days and I have not had my shoes off for about two weeks so you see what we have to go through when we are making a drive.

It is hard enough to fight men but it is much harder when you find women working machine guns and trying to kill you and have to stick a knife in her or shoot her, but they haven't any right of putting them there.

I am going to try and send you a little gift with this letter, so write and tell me if you got it and also I am going to send you a clipping out of the paper and you can see what we had to drink when we got over in Germany.

Mother, in your letter you said I have had a lot of experience, yes, I have, but it doesn't amount to much.

You said you went to Holy Communion but it has been some time since I have been to it. I haven't had a chance to go, we have been on the move for a long time and have not been in any towns.

You asked me to tell you how it is over here. Well, it is just like being in Hell some time for we have to sleep in woods and one night we stayed in a creek but it was for our own good for we were trying to fool the Huns and we succeeded.

You said you were going to save the motorcycle for me. Tell father to save a little cash for me too, for I want to go and spend a month at some hot springs for if I don't I will be worse than Pete Peri when I am about 35 or 40 year old.

I received the home paper and one card and two letters but I was on my way to the front and did not have time to answer them. Yes, I can speak a little French.

You said father was glad to hear from me. Tell him to hold himself when he gets this one, and tell old Fred that I got enough Huns to please the whole town. I got three with my bayonet and I don't know just how many with bullets. I stuck my bayonet clear through one of them for he was shooting a machine gun and had killed two of my comrades.

I will close for this time. Tell Rose I will answer her letter some other time.

Your loving son,
WALLACE MILLER.

A MT. STERLING MAN'S EXPERIENCE

Can you doubt the evidence of this Mt. Sterling citizen?

Read this:

R. J. Thomas, 47 Harrison St., says: "I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me. I was troubled with kidney complaint and my back, limbs and body ached and pained me, what he said: 'I can make a lord I felt weak and worn out. My kidneys were irregular in action and gentlemen.' He said it a long time unnatural. I read of Doan's Kidney ago. It is as true today as when his Pills and bought some from Duer- son's Drug Store. This medicine mounted a throne.

soon had me feeling like a different person. The backaches left me and the action of my kidneys were regulated."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Thomas had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mgrs., Buffalo, N. Y. —20-21.

King James I may have been a dissolute monarch but he was a wise man and a keen observer. This is what he said: "I can make a lord but only God Almighty can make a king." He wears two service stripes now, and he boasts that it took three machine gun bullets to knock him out the day he was wounded.

He was fighting near Soissons when he "got his." His company had been entrenched on a hill slope that overlooked a valley of wheat fields beyond which the Germans were hiding in the woods of another slope. Heill and his men had managed to cross the valley by running short distances at top speed and then dropping for a breathing space into the wheat. Just as he started up the slope two bullets hit him, one in the thigh, the other below the knee of his left leg, and as he fell a third struck the big muscle in his right forearm, so completely paralyzing that he had to jerk his rifle loose with his left hand.

Heill remembers rolling over into a shell hole, where he lay for hours before a patrol of Boche prisoners, guarded by an American sergeant, came by and found him lying there. He was carried into a field hospital and later sent into Hospital No. 1. The leg wounds are healing rapidly, but the right forearm is still partially paralyzed.

"But what's an arm as long as I'm getting plenty to eat," says Corporal Heill. "There were three days during the fighting up at the front when I missed out on rations, and another twenty-four hours that I was lying out on the field. Guess I never will get enough to make up for missing all those meals. But they do treat us fine here. Plenty of good food, a good looking nurse and a Red Cross chaplain that comes around every day with cigarettes."

PERFECT RED CROSS STAR ON YANK'S BACK

All life long Private Jean Fournan of New York city will carry a cross on his back as a souvenir of the great war. The wound that has marked him so unusual that he is known at American Military Hospital No. 1, where he is now convalescing as the "Red Cross Man," and doctors, nurses and patients have watched his ease with unusual interest.

Fournan is a member of one of the American regiments recently engaged in the fighting near Soissons and Fismes. He has been in France since last October and went through "several kinds of hell" on several fronts without a scratch. And then, one morning a short time ago, just as his company went over the top headed for a Boche machine gun nest, a "whiz bang" knocked him out. He had a momentary stinging sensation and then awoke to find himself on an American sanitary train, from which he was taken by ambulance to the hospital.

When he was carried to the operating room the surgeon looked him over and then called the other doctors to come and look. The boy had been hit by two pieces of shrapnel, one of which had gone down his back so close to his spine that only a miracle saved him from paralysis. The other had crossed at right angles, leaving the mark of a perfect cross on his back. Fournan has those pieces of shrapnel in his Red Cross treasure bag. He says they're "lucky pieces" because they "only left a scar."

When Private Fournan is well enough to be discharged from the hospital he means to spend several days in the south of France, where he was born. But after the war is over he is going back to New York city to his adopted country, where he has lived for fifteen years. He is so thoroughly Americanized that he prefers fighting with American troops, with whom he trained at Camp Syraense.

Just by chance the American in the next bed to Fournan is of German parentage. "Frank Heill, Columbus, O." reads the card at the head of his bed, and the corporal admits that his name is as German as it sounds. An uncle who lives in Texas was so pro-German that he disowned Heill when he enlisted for service. Heill felt that he had to live down his name, and so it was that he earned his corporal's chevrons shortly after he had gone into training. He wears two service stripes now, and he boasts that it took three machine gun bullets to knock him out the day he was wounded.

He was fighting near Soissons when he "got his." His company had been entrenched on a hill slope that overlooked a valley of wheat fields beyond which the Germans were hiding in the woods of another slope. Heill and his men had managed to cross the valley by running short distances at top speed and then dropping for a breathing space into the wheat. Just as he started up the slope two bullets hit him, one in the thigh, the other below the knee of his left leg, and as he fell a third struck the big muscle in his right forearm, so completely paralyzing that he had to jerk his rifle loose with his left hand.

Heill remembers rolling over into a shell hole, where he lay for hours before a patrol of Boche prisoners, guarded by an American sergeant, came by and found him lying there. He was carried into a field hospital and later sent into Hospital No. 1. The leg wounds are healing rapidly, but the right forearm is still partially paralyzed.

"Oh, the leg's all right," he sings out cheerfully. "But I sure would have been gone if it hadn't been for the sergeant there. I couldn't make myself eat when they brought me here—nerves, the doctor said. Then I used to watch the sergeant sneaking out of bed when he was supposed to be dying and swiping food from the joy cart. It tickled me so to watch him that I began to get hungry—and now I'm getting fat."

"All right for you to talk," grumbles Webb La Pointe of Sheboygan, Wis., from another bed, "but what do you think about me? Laid up here like an invalid and I've never gotten a crack at a Boche."

La Pointe is in a machine gun company of one of the divisions that distinguished itself in the fighting near Compeigne. He had just started over the top early one morning carrying the tripod of a gun when a "soup wagon" came along and knocked him down. He was hit in the knee and elbow and now he is in the hospital grumbling, not because he is done up in yards of bandages and painful apparatus that holds his injured leg straight, but because it will be some time before he gets back front again for a "crack at a Boche."

David Rittman of New York city is another convalescent of No. 1 who enjoys the food and the Red Cross cigarettes. He had several days on timed rations when he was brought in from the field and was losing his strength because he refused to eat. In the bed next him was a sergeant of the regular army who had been brought in to die because a piece of shrapnel had lodged so close beneath his heart that an operation to remove it was impossible.

The sergeant, rejoicing in the name of Kelly and coming from the town of St. Joseph, Mich., refused to accept the verdict that he must die and dined on liquid rations. Whenever the "joy wagon" (as the boys call the food cart) appeared, the sergeant would arise from his "death bed" and steal food while the backs of the nurses were turned. After a while the doctors listened to his urgent request for "regular meals," and cancelled the order that he was to have liquid diet pending his stay in the hospital. Sergeant Kelly is still at the hospital, where he is now working as a hospital orderly. He is eating as much as they will give him and whenever possible sneaking "extras," which he hides beneath his pillow.

Rittow and the other men in ward 238 have developed real appetites from watching him eat and listening to his jokes. They know as well as does the sergeant that any chance accident may dislodge the bit of shrapnel that lies beneath his heart, but as long as he can shake his fist at death and laugh at his troubles, they laugh with him. He spins yarns by the hour of his experiences in the Phillipines, on the Mexican border and in France, where he has served twelve months, now. And when he runs out of breath, Rittow catches the ball and tells his story of service as "liaison" messenger between French and American troops who Fere-en-Tardenois.

He trained at Camp Mills with another group of men from New York city, coming to France last October. His company was sent to several different fronts in France, and by odd coincidence every time that they were relieved the company which replaced them suffered heavy casualties from attacks, raids and bombardments. Finally came the day when they were recalled from the Champagne front and sent into support the division that had pressed on beyond Chateau Thierry in the early days of the July offensive. The day he was wounded he had gone back and forth for twelve hours between French and American field headquarters, carrying important messages. He had just started off on another trip when a chance turn to the right instead of to the left, as he had been going, put him in the path of flying shrapnel that wounded him in the left thigh and below the knee.

Heill remembers rolling over into a shell hole, where he lay for hours before a patrol of Boche prisoners, guarded by an American sergeant, came by and found him lying there. He was carried into a field hospital and later sent into Hospital No. 1. The leg wounds are healing rapidly, but the right forearm is still partially paralyzed.

CHRISTMAS FOR CHILDREN IN WAR-RIDDEN EUROPE

Christmas, for the children in the war devastated countries of Europe, will mean just what we make it for them.

Even though peace approaches; Belgium, France, Italy and Serbia, and other countries as well, have thousands of homeless orphaned children who are destitute.

A Christmas gift of good food and warm clothing has gone to them every year since the war began, thru the War Children's Relief Fund, of which Mrs. Eva MacDonald Valesh, the well-known speaker and writer is National Chairman. This season, she appeals again to children and to those who love children to join in the privilege of giving the Children of the Allies a happy Christmas and also substantial relief for the hardest and coldest weeks in the year.

Mrs. Valesh says:

"It is estimated that about a dollar will be expended on each child this year."

"A whole day of happiness in a child's life and a golden memory for you, that will live throughout the year—all for a dollar."

"How many children do you thus want to make happy? If you can afford $500, give that and know that five hundred children will thereby be blessed."

"If it is only a dollar, give that, with the fullness of your heart behind it. Whatever be the amount please give it promptly, for the time is short."

"Be sure no other investment will yield such happiness to you as the giver or the children whom you make happy on Christmas Day."

There are no expenses of distribution, the Queen of Belgium, the Queen of Italy and Ambassador Jusserand of France are among those who distribute this Fund and reach the children directly.

Send check or money order to WAR CHILDREN'S RELIEF FUND, 2 Reector Street, New York.

The receipt of it will be promptly acknowledged and an audited account of its distribution sent to each contributor.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, will visit the battle front of Europe. Senator Vardaman visited the battle front of Mississippi and was tumbled into the Vale of Oblivion.

The Fordson Tractor

The Fordson tractor, manufactured by Henry Ford & Son at Dearborn, Michigan, is here.

Hundreds of farm owners in this community will be interested in this announcement—in knowing that Fordson tractors are ready for distribution.

The urgent need for greater production and the vital necessity of employing man-saving machinery is apparent to everyone. Remembering these immense tasks ahead, the coming of the Fordson is of importance to every farm owner at this time.

The Oliver No. 7—the Plow for the Fordson

Oliver No. 7 has been built for the Fordson.

Henry Ford & Son recommend it as the plow that will work to the best advantage with their machine.

Oliver No. 7 is strictly a one-man machine. A trip lever at the operator's hand raises or lowers the bottoms. An even depth adjustment lever is right at hand, too.

You will appreciate the high clearance of plows and beams because they save time and annoyance—just as the rake between bottoms prevents clogging with trash and makes every second of operating time count in plowed ground.

The Oliver No. 7 embodies principles of plow construction founded on sixty years of making plows, of intensive study of every existing soil condition—constant attention to the plow requirements of the tractor since the tractor industry began.

Come in and see this complete outfit—the Fordson and the Oliver No. 7 Plow.

"Gee! but it's nice to see a girl like you!"

IT was in a hut at one of the training schools in France. He was a non-commissioned officer. He had been in France for eight months, and now was back from the front as an instructor. He hadn't seen a girl of his own kind, a girl like his sisters, for weeks.

And there she stood behind the canteen counter in this big, roomy, comfortable hut.

He bought a bar of chocolate. Then he drifted over to the group around the piano. Presently he went back to the canteen for a package of cigarettes. He strolled to the reading table and leafed over a magazine. Again he returned—this time for a cake of soap and some tooth-paste.

For a moment the rush at the canteen was over. He loitered at the counter and looked at the girl. She smiled. So did he. Then he blurted out what he had been trying to say for 20 minutes:

"Gee! but it's nice to see a girl like you!"

There are girls like that all over France—in camps, in towns, in the big cities—even at the front itself. They are serving the canteens, running restaurants, handing out hot chocolate or coffee, pies and doughnuts.

They are giving the huts a look of home—putting bright curtains at the windows, posters on the walls, making flower-gardens at the doors. They are mending for the soldiers.

But, most of all, they are just being there! They talk about the things that sound like home. Perhaps they know the very towns and streets and girls that these boys know.

They bind together home and France! They are the girls beside the men behind the guns!

Without the organizations whose uniforms they wear, these girls could accomplish nothing.

However eager to help, they could not even travel as individuals.

But with the backing of these established, recognized and regulated bodies, they can work wonders.

When you think of war as a brutalizing force, think of American womanhood working with the soldiers in this war—then give, to support the organizations which make this possible.

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the world began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved.

Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their

3600 Recreation Buildings 2500 Libraries supplying 5,000,000 books
1000 Miles of Movie Film 85 Hostess Houses
100 Leading Stage Stars 15,000 Big-brother "secretaries"
2000 Athletic Directors Millions of dollars of home comforts

When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comforts of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a theatre, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul!

You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs.

Now give to maintain the Morale that is winning the war!
